

The Fence

THE FENCE

Carolyn Malachi

GOLD

The fence around my heart is tall and wide.
I see you through the beams,
Beckoning me to climb,
And I oblige with splinters in mind.

The fence around my heart is tall and wide.
I climb because I need those splinters -
Thin needles in my tough skin,
Days of healing,
Stark reminders that I am alive.

The fence around my heart is tall and wide,
And quite frankly,
I'm tired of being the only one.
Who's willing to climb for these splinters?

Lyrics (words) written and performed by Carolyn Malachi for Carolyn Malachi Legacy Brands (ASCAP). Music written, produced played and engineered by James McKinney (ASCAP). Recorded at Infinite Icon, Greenbelt, MD for Infinite Icon Productions, Noom Wen Publishing (ASCAP)

